

Words that are not in mind

In my claim that leadership and management in any institution, organization, interest or public or private company or body

It can be divided into three levels of responsibility and management, the first layer, which is responsible for drawing up public policies and developing plans and following up the application at all levels of the system, while the third level is the level that monitors the follow-up of the small employee in the performance of his work and solves the problems of those who frequent those interests, then comes the second and most important level - in my opinion - I think that it is the most important administrative episodes of the system because it is a tool of communication between senior management and executive management below, and this level of management is based on the entire organizational structure, as it faces what is difficult to solve in the lower executive administrative class, especially if the lower layer is inexperienced or trembling hand for fear of taking responsibility and fear of control and investigations, and therefore I argue that the classification of this layer of great importance to be chosen accurately and very carefully because it must be experienced and creative The unfamiliar and the ability to find solutions to all the problems that ascend to it as it must be re-evaluated from time to time and evaluate an objective and actual evaluation and not a formality because the existence of failed models or unable to make decisions at this level or (spend them peacefully until reaching the age of pension and disbursement of bonus and special funds) means that the problems will accumulate down and that the information will be inaccurate or correct for the upper administrative class, all because of the poor selection of those leaders and will solve adulation and hypocrisy To continue in the position instead of diligence and work.

The first degrees of failure and its manifestations and features that you find it difficult to meet the officials of this class because of the closed doors and the isolation inside the air-conditioned offices for fear of facing the public and the problems they carry need a bold pen and a good opinion, and even if luck honored you and allowed you to meet these to display and put problems on them find you in front of an idol unaware and ununderstanding and therefore advised good choice of this layer for the seriousness of the role entrusted to it in the career ladder and the administrative pyramid.
